

Scott D. Wiley, CAE

President & CEO

Scott Wiley provides the executive vision for one of the nation's top accounting associations. He leads a team of 40+ professionals that create and deliver innovative advocacy, education and business solutions for 85,000 CPAs and accounting professionals working in businesses of every size and sector across Ohio.

Key Initiatives

Realigned OSCPA to drive higher value as a leading business partner for CPAs and their organizations.

Led a major organizational rebranding initiative.

Formed the Ohio Tax Reform Task Force to guide Ohio legislators in making Ohio more competitive.

OSCPA helped pass an Ohio ballot initiative preventing business monopolies in Ohio's constitution.

Drove reform of Ohio's municipal income tax system.

Helped defeat new state sales taxes and advocated for maintaining thresholds on business tax.

Drove efforts to make Ohio the first state to approve CPE credit for nano-learning.

Awarded for efforts to create a more diverse and inclusive accounting profession in Ohio.

Since 2013, Wiley has repositioned the association to deliver greater member value in a fast-moving business environment. He has refocused staff resources, products and services and in 2016, launched a new mission, vision and brand. It reflects OSCPA's commitment to advance and diversify the accounting profession and support members as Ohio's top strategic financial advisors.

He sets the association's bold annual advocacy agenda, collaborating with government and CPA leaders to advance tax and regulatory changes that benefit Ohio's economy and improve its business environment.

Influencing the national policy agenda for the accounting profession is a top priority for Wiley, who represents The Ohio Society of CPAs and the national association community on Capitol Hill. He does this through his active participation with the CPA Society State Executives Association and as Chair of the Board for the American Society of Association Executives (ASAE) in Washington, D.C.

The Ohio Society of CPAs is recognized as a key leader in evolving CPA continuing education. Ohio was the first state CPA association to launch a successful online learning platform and Ohio was the first state to approve CPA continuing education credit for nano learning.

This strategic move emphasizes that learning formats must be flexible and evolve to meet the needs of a new generation of professionals. Wiley's efforts earned him a place on The American Institute of CPAs Future of Learning Task Force in 2013.

Mindful of changing demographics in America, Wiley is making a diverse and inclusive CPA talent pool a top priority in Ohio. He serves on The American Institute of CPAs National Commission on Diversity and Inclusion and has increased funding for diversity recruitment initiatives through The Ohio CPA Foundation where he also is president. The Foundation funds programs that grow a strong and vital CPA talent pool in Ohio.

Wiley has an accomplished association background built through his prior role as Executive Director for Delta Sigma Phi, an international membership organization with 115,000 members in the United States and abroad.

With his trademark sense of urgency, he expanded Delta Sigma Phi's global presence, transformed its organizational culture through bold new leadership and member engagement initiatives, and increased membership by 60%.

He also redesigned Delta Sigma Phi's organizational business model, forging new affiliate and corporate sponsorships that generated significant revenue, and drove a successful capital campaign which exceeded fundraising goal by 32%.
